Summary and progression

Significance:

Understanding why some events, individuals, situations, changes, societies and periods are considered significant.

Remarkable: The event or development was literally remarkable-in the sense that it was remarked upon by people at the time or afterward. Alternatively, it could be unusual, beyond the realm of normal life.

Remembered: The event or development was important at some stage in history within the collective memory of a group or groups.

Revealing: It reveals something noteworthy about that time period or challenges us to consider an unexpected aspect of the past.

Resonant: it is possible to connect with experiences, beliefs, or situations we experience today.

Resulting in Change: It had consequences for the future.
